

7. There are more diverse learners than ever in our classrooms. These students require services beyond the typical classroom, and public funding sources do not fully offset the costs of these additional needed services.

Source: National Center for Education Statistics, Bureau of Labor Statistics.